| O | Kendal MortePolice Diver | Kendal Morte is a dedicated diver for the Bramford Bluff Police Department. Kendal has served for almost twenty years and has uncovered many nefarious things, including dead bodies, briefcases holding top secret documents, discarded crime scene evidence, and other items thrown into the bodies of water surrounding the town. Kendal has a peculiar habit of pointing to everything while speaking and has impeccable manners. Kendal is one of the most inventive people you'll meet and can make anything you need out of everyday household items. | High School Friend | Wetsuit (unitard/ catsuit) with a badge and a snorkel as a prop. A police windbreaker, or anything casual. | This role may be played by any personality type. This is an easy one without too many directives. |
| O | Valen MansonRodeo Clown | Valen Manson is a creative rodeo clown who doubles as a party host for hire. Valen's clown character goes by Bubbles McGee and is a fun-loving performer who can sculpt anything out of balloons and make people laugh with contagious snort-filled giggles. However, you should set some time aside if you socialize with Valen outside of clown makeup, as it takes time for this clown to cover the fine points of topics with explanations of every detail. Beware of exhaustion if you get trapped in a lengthy chat. Kirby Manson adopted Valen at the tender age of two years old. Something was amiss in Valen's past, and it took years for Valen to warm up to Kirby as a parent. Nobody knows who Valen's biological parents are and why they gave Valen up for adoption. | Second Cousin | Clown costume of any sort. Even if you just wear a colorful wig and a pop-on red nose – that's fine. | This role may be played by a moderately good actor who won't mind being a clown – so you need a fun-loving person in this role. |

| o | Tru BentleySwimming Pool Technician | Tru is an estranged younger sibling of Hunter Bentley and a technician for Clean Water - We Promise, a swimming pool maintenance company in Bramford Bluff. Tru has been under rapid fire with complaints about the chemicals in the customers' swimming pools. There are rumors that Tru threw human safety concerns out the window and overdosed their clients' pools with chlorine to avoid dealing with algae blooms. After many complaints about hair turning green, eyes and skin burning, and intense chemical aromas, the company's owner hired a water chemist to investigate the pools on Tru's client list. Tru could be fired, or even worse, criminal charges could arise if there is evidence of harmful chemicals in the water. Tru constantly switches to the newest fad diets and talks in a terribly slow, meticulous cadence. And don't try to discern what Tru is thinking through those unreadable expressions. Tru betrayed Johnny and Hunter Bentley by speaking to the tabloid press two years ago, and Johnny Bentley banished Tru from the family. | Sibling | Casual attire. Sun hat and zinc oxide (the white film of sunscreen) on your nose is optional. Little pool next as an optional prop. | Choose someone who could pull off the slow, methodical cadence of their speech, so an outgoing person with a bit of acting skills. |
| o | Tracy VaderEpidemiologist | Tracy Vader is the nerdy epidemiologist for the city of Bramford Bluff but started their career in the biotechnology lab at Hemloxx Science. Nobody is sure why Tracy left the lab, but now Tracy tracks, traces, analyzes emerging diseases, and makes recommendations to the local government. Tracy incessantly plans their life events to an obsessive amount of detail. Tracy schedules every minute of the day on a mobile phone calendar and refuses to get off course. Overly self-confident, Tracy continually brags about their accomplishments. With that said, Tracy graduated college with top honors, and the former mayor handed the key to the city to Tracy after many reported incidents of helping strangers out of bad situations. Tracy has also won many chess championships, amateur boxing matches, poetry contests, and poker tournaments. Therefore, maybe all the boasting is warranted. | Former employee of Hemloxx Science | Lab coat over casual attire with a City of Bramford Falls name tag (optional) on the pocket. You can make one out of cardboard with aluminum foil. | This role may be played by any personality type. It's not difficult to be nerdy and brag. |

| O | Hudson ZillaGardener | Hudson Zilla is a hardworking gardener at the Hunter Bentley Mansion in Rumson Waterloo Estates – a gated, affluent neighborhood in Bramford Bluff. Hudson is exceptionally responsible and continually fishes for flattery and compliments from others. Is this because Hudson never received any positive feedback from Hunter Bentley about the impeccable grounds of the estate? Most would say Hunter's treatment would be mentally damaging to Hudson after many years of enduring no appreciation for going above and beyond with job duties. Even though Hudson poured their heart out onto the perfectly-manicured grass of the courtyards, the year-round blooming rose bushes, and the sculpted boxwoods that line the property – Hunter has never once said thank you. Nevertheless, this is a standard train of thought for many of the staff at the mansion. At least the team has had each other to lean on and build self-esteem back up to where it should be. | Gardener of Hunter Bentley Mansion | Casual gardener attire with a sun hat and gloves (optional). Or, if you wish to wear a fun flower costume or be a garden gnome – that's fine too! | This role may be played by any personality type. This is one of the easiest roles to play. |
| O | Grey SauronResearch Scientist | Grey Sauron is a workaholic research scientist for Hemloxx Science, Nanotech division. Grey works on many top-secret projects at the lab and refuses to discuss their projects. Grey won't even breathe hints about what the lab is about to release. SymbioTom is the only known project of Hemloxx Science - a collaborative project between the divisions of Hemloxx Science led by Revel Bentley. SymbioTom is an android personal assistant who can aid in all facets of their owner's life. SymbioTom hitting the markets will forever change humanity - or so they say. Grey takes in strays of all kinds. An aspiring 'Doctor Doolittle,' this soft heart has rescued many different species of pets at their home. Unfortunately, Dr. Sauron also has an annoying habit of lightly tapping on the cheek of whoever they speak to while spewing snap judgments about other people. Grey might seem stubborn, but they are easily influenced. Will someone eventually get Grey to squeal about the projects at the lab? Maybe so. | Employee of Hemloxx, Incorporated | Lab coat. You can ham it up as a mad scientist if you wish. | This role should be played by someone with good acting skills. There are many directives, and they should be able to act mysterious. |

| O | Iggy LestrangeLive Mannequin | Hemloxx Records has scoured the busy city streets of tourist hotspots in search of live mannequin performers who can hum original melodies. To date, they have signed a few of these artists. They are placing them in high-end locations with massive salary and benefits packages while promoting them on social media and giving them exposure on The Daily Snoop and Spilling the Tea – both divisions of Hemloxx Media. This faux mannequin fooled the Hemloxx scouts into believing their statue pose was solid, but Iggy has a terrible habit of fidgeting. Iggy starts at their new position today, but how long will it be before someone complains about the moving mannequin?Nonetheless, this performer will take the lead role at the flagship property of the Hemloxx hotel chain, Ze Hotel Hemloxx, in Bramford Bluff. During peak check-in hours, they'll pose while humming on a solid gold box at the grand entrance. Personally, Iggy is multi-lingual and speaks seven languages, which is quite impressive. But Iggy isn't friendship material as they severely lack consideration for others. | Signed by Hemloxx Records | Wear trendy attire and have impeccable hair (or wear a wig) or you can go for all gold or silver makeup and be more of a statue type mannequin. Or wear a morph suit. | This role should be played by a good actor. It's best to assign a fun spirited person, so they can pretend to be a live performing mannequin and hum tunes. |
| O | Ombre DacoitBartender | Ombre Dacoit is a bartender at The Sneaky Steak fine-dining restaurant, a three-star Michelin establishment owned by Hemloxx Hospitality and planned for expansion to over a hundred global locations. Ombre is vying for a position as a regional manager. Will this cocktail mixer have enough experience for the job? Most would think not, but Ombre's a big dreamer with an inflated ego. Ombre is competitive but a giant sore loser who will cause chaos during pub trivia challenges to friendly tennis games with pals. Ombre is freakishly organized in every part of their life and is a severe hypochondriac. If you have an ailment or illness, do not tell Ombre your symptoms - this barkeep will manifest every last one by the following sunrise. For this reason, Ombre usually misses work simultaneously as coworkers when they get sick. | Employee of Hemloxx, Incorporated | Bartender attire for a fine-dining establishment. White collar button-up, black pants and an apron. Have a dish rag as an optional prop. | This role may be played by any personality type. |
